WOMEN VOTE TO AFFILIATE WITH NATIONAL BODY

Amendment Wins by Vote of 321 to 141 at Morning Session

FEATURE OF MEETING

Past President of General Federation Present When Measure Comes Up

With Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, past president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs seated on the speaker's platform, the substitute amendment regarding universal membership passed by a vote of 321 against 141 at this morning's session of the thirty-first annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, held at the First Presbyterian Church here. Mrs. Winter made no talk regarding the amendment nor took any active part in the discussion of the amendment. She arrived shortly after 10 o'clock and will be heard in an address on "Women" at the convention banquet to-night in the Star Auditorium.

The amendment, which has been a popular club topic since a proposal of the change in club dues was made at the convention a year ago in Springfield, was the subject of a prolonged discussion this morning and an extension of time was necessary to complete the business. Mrs. C. S. Selover, state parliamentarian, presented the substitute amendment adopted by the executive board to take the place of the amendment offered at the Springfield Convention. The substitute amendment follows:

ARTICLE VIII
Secs. 2 and 4. Amend by striking out the entire sections and inserting the following:

Sec. 2. The annual dues of each club except those otherwise provided for shall be fifty cents per capita, which will be apportioned as follows: Ten cents to the General Federation of Women's Clubs, fifteen cents for press work, five cents for Loan Scholarship Fund, five cents for Endowment Fund and five cents for State Federation, or distributed in such manner as the Executive Board shall determine.

Sec. 3. The annual dues of local, city and county Federations shall be fifty cents per Club. Such Federations wishing to belong to the General Federation shall add twenty-five cents per Club.

Sec. 4. Membership in the General Federation shall be optional with Clubs whose object is purely civic or philanthropic; Clubs that are a part of national organizations, other than the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Clubs that are auxiliary to men's Clubs; Clubs that are a part of college or state university activities.

Resolution List
Reorganization of the State Welfare Department to entirely lift it from party control and removal of the State Department of Health from partisan politics were endorsed in resolutions adopted.

Approval also was given the Shepard and Townsend appropriation providing funds for the State Department of Health to carry on its program of prenatal and infant care; and the proposal requesting the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor to work out a practical program dealing with all children within the juvenile court age.

Jail Report
Miss Irma Gerkins in her report as chairman of the division of adult delinquency at this morning's session in First Presbyterian Church deplored the lack of system in the operation of county jails in Ohio.

"Sixty-nine county jails throughout Ohio were visited during 1926 and 1927," Mrs. Gerkins said. "by club women living in the vicinity of these jails. This work was carried on under the supervision of the Division of Adult Delinquency and is part of a nationwide jail survey recommended by the same division of the General Federation."

"The survey reveals that jails for the most part are in good condition—clean, well-ventilated, well lighted, dry and with good plumbing; that food is good and sufficient and careful searches made to keep narcotics from prisoners."

All this would indicate that the sheriffs and state officials inspecting the jails are competent and fulfilling their duties faithfully and well and that any criticism which are necessary are in regard to the jails themselves or the jail system, not to the officials who administer and inspect the jails."

DEATH ROAD CROSSING
Investigation was here today into the Frank Owens, 63, a killed late Wednesday automobile was struck by Pennsylvania express. The machine, which was 200 yards,

Breakdown in Criminal Justice Blamed on Misuse of Pardon and Parole Law

BASING her statements on facts gleaned from one of the most comprehensive checks of criminal court records ever undertaken, Mrs. D. C. Bryant, Bowling Green, in a report before the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs in convention here yesterday bluntly placed responsibility for the pitiful breakdown in criminal justice on misuse of the pardon and parole law and probation practices.

Three outstanding deductions from the survey were cited as follows:

First: That crime is rapidly increasing among those under 21 years of age.

Second: Among the technicalities delaying justice, insufficient search warrants are conspicuous.

Third: The foreign element is not figuring so conspicuously in the crime wave as it has been reported. "Reports were turned in in the Ohio survey from 57 counties, 54 courts having been surveyed," Mrs. Bryant explained. "These included the supreme court, one district court, 34 common pleas courts, 12 juvenile and seven municipal courts."

In these 54 courts during the last year, the speaker pointed out, 23,352 cases were presented for trial. Of this number, she said, 20,000 were brought to trial. Nearly one-sixth were females.

About 10 percent of those brought to trial were found "not guilty."

The records showed men's second offenses, several third and a few fourth. In the majority of cases appealed to the upper court the decision in the lower tribunals was affirmed.

Cites Causes
Switching to the fundamental causes of lawlessness Mrs. Bryant placed first in importance the throwing off of responsibility by the American home.

"When obedience gave way to persuasion, when the Bible was displaced by 'True Stories,' and 'College Humor,' then was ushered in this jazz age, which has culminated in a philosophy that proclaims there is no such thing as right and wrong, therefore let desire rule, everything is ours, let us take it," Mrs. Bryant declared.

"Of only slightly less importance in causing lawlessness is Turn to Page 5

GRAY REENACTS SNYDER MURDER IN COURTROOM

IS CROSS-EXAMINED

Undergoes Grilling After Testifying That Mrs. Snyder Dominated Him

Courthouse, Long Island City, N. Y., May 5.—Cross-examination of Henry Judd Gray, self-confessed slayer of Albert Snyder, was begun at 12:10 o'clock this afternoon by Dana Wallace, counsel for "the defendant Snyder."

Direct examination of Gray was concluded at exactly twelve o'clock. There was a wait after Gray's direct examination was concluded. A recess was declared and the jury left the room.

Gray had been under direct examination for exactly 10 hours, during which time he had related the grisly details of the brutal slaying of Snyder, implicating his co-defendant and former sweetheart, Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder.

He said that he only whacked the sleeping Snyder with the iron window weight, but that Mrs. Snyder dealt her husband the final death blow. This story he told last yesterday. This morning he told how, after the deed was done, and Snyder lay dead, he and

FOUR VERDICTS ARE POSSIBLE

Courthouse, Long Island City, N. Y., May 5.—Four verdicts are possible in the Snyder-Gray murder case. It was pointed out today that Justice Townsend Scudder, presiding, may instruct the jurors regarding four verdicts they may return in the case of each of the defendants, Henry Judd Gray and Mrs. Ruth Brown Snyder.

"The judge probably will define first degree and second degree murder and manslaughter and inform the jurors that a verdict of guilty of either of the above degrees of homicide is possible. He may also advise the jurors they may bring in a verdict of 'not guilty' if they believe the prosecution has failed to establish the guilt of the defendants beyond 'a reasonable doubt.'" his paramour tried to "cover up" the murder and deceive the police.

Questions Shot at Him
Wallace shot his questions at Gray in a cutting tone.

Gray, composed and apparently relieved after having told his bloody story, propped back at the cross-examination through hard-earned spectacles and answered the questions slowly and clearly.

"Mr. Gray, when is the first time you removed your glasses on the night of March 19 in the Snyder home?" A. Shortly after they came back about 2:30 o'clock.

Q. What room were you in when you removed them? A.—In her mother's room.

Q.—How long before you struck Snyder with the ash weight did you remove your glasses? A.—I don't know.

Q.—Your glasses were off when you struck him? A.—Yes, they were on a tray on the chiffonier in her mother's room.

Q.—Where was the ashweight? A.—On the floor.

Q.—Did you take the ashweight off because you were going to strike him with the ash weight? A.—No.

Q.—Then why did you? A.—I thought these might be a light.

Q.—You were all prepared for a struggle? A.—Not necessarily.

Recounts Scene
Then came a dramatic touch to this cross-examination. Wallace asked Gray if he would remove his glasses and take the ash weight, then ask:

Tracy, estimated today.

At the request of the governor, Tracy submitted to Donahay late Wednesday figures and estimates relative to the financial condition of the Ohio treasury.

Tracy told the governor that the deficit in the state treasury on June 30, next, is estimated to approximate $12,900,000.

In arriving at his estimates, Tracy disclosed that legislative leaders are covering the additional revenue expected to be raised as a result of the passage this session of the Higher Education Bill, increasing the state income tax on certain public utilities and lowering the state franchise tax on corporations.

Legislative leaders estimated that the income tax would approach $10,000,000, the franchise tax about $2,000,000 and the utility tax about $900,000.

George B. Knapp Makes Startling Announcement at Y. M. C. A. Drive Dinner

One hundred thousand dollars has been pledged for the construction of a new building in Marion to cost approximately $500,000, designed to provide a home for the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and Boy Scouts.

Plans already have been undertaken to acquire a certain tract of valuable real estate for the purpose outlined and these negotiations are now under way. This announcement was made at noon today during the joint luncheon of the Kiwanis Club and campaign workers in the annual finance drive of the Y. M. C. A. and Boy Scouts.

George B. Knapp, president of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, made the statement, declaring that he was authorized by a citizen of Marion, whose identity was kept secret, to make the $100,000 pledge comes from this citizen.

When the real estate is acquired and plans developed, according to Mr. Knapp, the people of Marion will face the program of raising the other $400,000 for the building.

"This pledge of $100,000, however, is no doubt the most generous gift that has ever come to us in Marion," Mr. Knapp stated, "and I know you will appreciate the splendid spirit in which it is made. I know, also, that the future of Marion and the welfare of the city which he calls his home."

"I am indebted to secrecy as to the name of this giver, but I assure you that, in months to come, we will be able to add something to the program which will appeal to the hearts of the citizens of Marion, and I am hopeful that we may look forward to the successful conclusion of such a program," Mr. Knapp concluded.

The hearty applause that met this statement in itself paid tribute to the citizen of Marion who has generously made this pledge.

Today's luncheon in the finance campaign of the Y. M. C. A. and Boy Scouts began the last lap of their four-day drive for funds with which to cover operating expenses.

A total of $18,400.75 has been raised to date and the goal is $25,000. The campaign closes Friday noon. The collection for the third day was $8,975, according to reports made by captains at noon today.

Walter J. Schuchman, president of the Y. M. C. A. for the last three years, was present and, after urging all to continue the great fight for the goal set, introduced Mr. Knapp.

Dr. F. A. Stengel, president of the Kiwanis Club, also pledged the hearty support of that club in the remaining 24 hours of the great campaign. A large number of the members of that organization are among the solicitors.

The final report of the annual drive will be made at the last meeting of the solicitors, Friday noon.

Coroner Who Gave Murder Verdict and Others To Be Called by Probers

City's Daily Milk Supply Is Produced by 1,705 Cows

APPROXIMATELY 1,705 cows produce the 5,712 gallons of milk consumed in the city of Marion each day of the year, according to the report of city milk and meat inspector Dr. J. O. Gruber, made at the monthly meeting of the board of health held at the health department office yesterday.

Of this number, 328 have been tubercular tested, Dr. Gruber said. In discussing the matter of compulsory testing for tuberculosis, Dr. Gruber ventured the opinion that such action might result in a milk shortage for a time, the work however, he said would be carried on until every cow producing milk for city consumption would be tested.

Complaints of milk becoming spoiled instead of turning sour resulted in two tests being made for preservatives, Dr. Gruber reported. In each case, however, the presence of acid germs rather than the presence of preservatives, was responsible for the condition.

Fifty-seven inspections were made by Dr. Gruber during the month, according to his report. 46 permits were granted and three refused. He also reported 119 samples collected.

SOYBEANS ARE SUGGESTED AS CROP SOLUTION

Value and Possibilities of Product in County Are Cited.

The value and possibilities of soybeans as a profitable crop in this section of Ohio is discussed by Black College, agricultural agent on temporary duty in Marion County, in the second of a series of articles which he has prepared to assist farmers in planning their crops for this year. The primary purpose is to help solve the problems facing many farmers as the result of planning regulations due to the corn boom campaign.

Mr. Collings' discussion of soybeans follows:

Soybeans are being recognized more and more each year as a splendid hay crop and they are grown by a number of persons as a grain crop. There are some advantages possessed by soybeans that is not characteristic of many crops, in that they may be sown over a rather wide period of time. Soybeans for hay may be sown from May 5 to the middle of June. Rather early seeding is preferable, however, so that they may be cut in August or early September when weather conditions are apt to be favorable for curing. Soybeans hay is equal to alfalfa in feeding value.

May Follow Wheat

During an unusually rainy season such as we had last fall, soybeans can be followed by wheat. When harvesting for seed, many men follow the binder platform with the wheel drill in order that the wheat may be sown over the entire field without being bothered with the bean shocks. It is then possible to leave the beans in shock until a desirable time for thrashing.

Another use that is being made of soybeans in a limited way is for pasture. They seem to make splendid pasture for cattle or sheep.

Soybeans as a grain crop have been grown in Ohio for several years and yet the acreage grown for this purpose is not large. On land in a fair state of fertility, 18 to 20 bushels of seed should be expected. Yields of 25 to 30 bushels have sometimes been obtained. The chief difficulty in growing soybeans as a seed crop is the uncertainty of the market for the seed. Practically all the beans grown in Ohio are marketed for seed purposes, but there are a few mills buying soybeans for making meal and oil. The prices realized by men in this state when selling beans to oil mills is a little more than $1.00 per bushel. Perhaps $1.15 to $1.25.

Valuable Feed

Soybeans are a valuable feed, however, and they help to reduce the amount of concentrates necessary to purchase.

Those men who are considering growing soybeans should investigate the possibility of obtaining seed at once as the supply is getting short.

Apparently the crops that fit in best in our system of farming and that may take the place of corn or oats this year are barley, alfalfa, soybeans and sweet clover. Looking forward to future years, however, it may be feasible to increase the acreage of sugar beets to some extent, spring wheat, barley, corn, sweet corn, alfalfa, sweet clover and soybeans at the expense of the corn or oats crop.

In fact it may be said that if the coming of the European Corn Borer results in greater acreages of alfalfa, sweet clover, soybeans, sugar beets and barley, and a reduction of the acreage of oats, it will have been a blessing in disguise.

EXAMINATIONS PLANNED BY HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Efforts To Be Concentrated on Handlers of Food-stuffs

Efforts of the city health department during the next few months, especially after the close of school, will be centered on the examinations of all persons in the city who in any way have to do with the handling of food-stuffs for the consumption of the public.

This was brought out by Health Commissioner W. J. Weiser at the monthly meeting of the board of health held at the city hall, yesterday. Dr. Weiser said there had been some laxity on the part of restaurant keepers and others in sending their employees in for examination and a check-up would be made and the ordinance enforced.

The check-up will not only include restaurant keepers, Dr. Weiser said, but will include candy and ice cream manufacturers as well as owners of candy kitchens.

In his report to the board of health, Dr. Weiser said he had examined 253 first grade pupils during April at N. State-st., Market, Oakland Heights, Vernon Heights and Greenwood buildings. At the latter school, Dr. Weiser said, out of 30 pupils he found 22 with defective teeth, 13 with moderately defective tonsils, five with very bad tonsils, 22 were from three to nine pounds underweight, two had skin disease, eight glandular enlargement and 34 had not been vaccinated. In correctional work, a boy had had his tonsils and adenoids removed, 14 were Schick immunized and two had been vaccinated.

CITY'S NEW ROAD ROLLER WORKING ON KENTON-AV

Marietta Officials Witness Operations of Scarifier on Hard-Surface Street

Marion's new Huber road roller and scarifier was introduced into city service yesterday, when work of scarifying Kenton-av, regarded by city officials as one of the hardest surfaced roads and by automobile drivers as one of the roughest, was started.

With apparent ease the sharp teeth of the scarifier tore loose the hard surface of the road, it was then scraped and will be rolled into a smooth surface after which a coating of oil will be applied. Kenton av has been a constant source of expense. Service Director Benedict said yesterday, last year more than $500 having been spent for stone and oil in an effort to make it reasonably smooth.

John W. Grey, mayor and M. O. Russell, service director of Marietta, O., witnessed the work of the roller yesterday, in the interest of that city where the purchase of such a roller is contemplated. The mayor and service director were accompanied to this city by H. Wagner, a representative of the Huber company with headquarters in Marietta. The officials expressed their interest in the work of the roller.

FOR EASE IN TRAVEL

In all the vast expenditures made by the Railroads of America for improvements during the past few years, none is more necessary or important to the rendering of efficient and satisfactory service than the changes and betterments of the tracks.

These tracks have been and are being rebuilt with heavier rail; the best crushed rock ballast is going in large quantities into the road-bed; grades are being reduced, curvature eased, bridges strengthened—the physical plant is being remade, all conducing to safety and economy of operation.

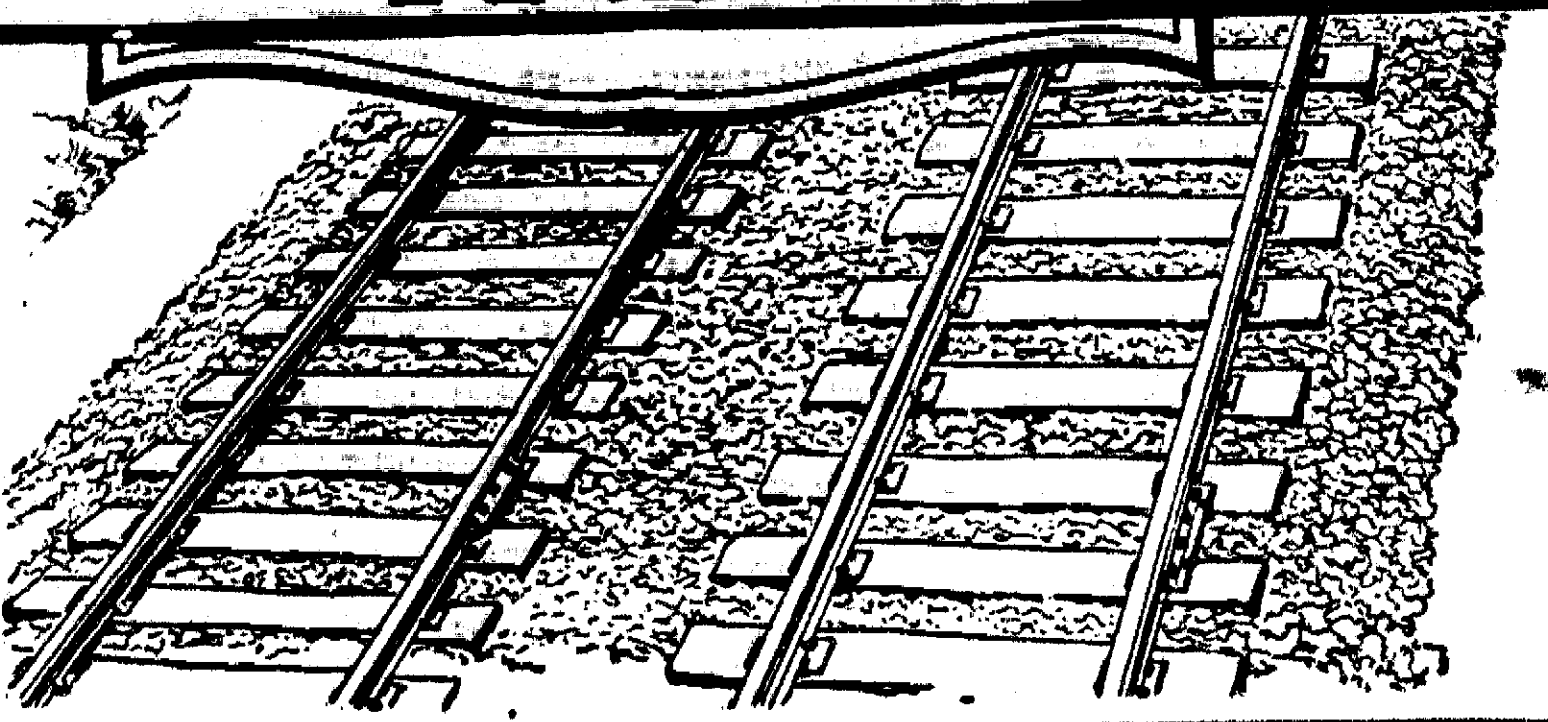

The Hocking Valley has spent many millions in betterments of this kind. Its main line is a model of modern railway construction. Over it passes a frequent and up-to-date passenger train service. High speed schedules are being more dependably maintained than ever before.

Everything that possibly can be done for the safety and comfort of our patrons has been provided.

The Hocking Valley is glad to make these costly changes, because we realize they add so greatly to the service it renders and is a benefit to the public from every conceivable standpoint.

"Peace makers rather than arbiters are needed in international life today," Mrs. Dawes said. "We have such potential peace makers in our own country today; not dreamers of impossible dreams."

Measure of Civilization
"The open road of song and story has always been the road that leads into the world, away from isolated neighborhoods and their petty interests. It is a wider knowledge and a fuller existence. The open road is free to king and beggar alike, a highway to be traveled by soldiers and merchants and farmers; where strangers may pass on their way without question or hindrance. The civilization of a people can be measured, in large part, by the extent and condition of its roads.

Backward neighborhoods all over the world have poor roads or closed roads or no roads at all. Strangers in such neighborhoods are ridiculed or treated with suspicion or regarded as enemies merely because they are different. Such isolated places are hard to find in modern lands, except in those districts where nobody cares to live who has ever had a chance to get out on the open road and leave their behind.

The families of the nations are meeting today on the great highways of the world, and although it may not seem true at first sight, nearly all of them are seeking to go about their business peacefully. The business of first importance to them all is to find food for themselves and their families, and allow roads and protection in the houses which they have established. How can the nations of the earth, traveling more and more the same highways, learn to travel them in peace, to keep the roads open and free, and to avoid accident and bloodshed when they meet each other on the way?

Future Plans
"In certain parts of our country, organizations are being formed whose object it is, not merely to widen and straighten the roads already in use, but to look ahead and try to have future roads take their place in a well-thought-out scheme; and this scheme does not concern itself with one locality, but looks out to the well-planned roads that form the great national highways. In order that cooperation and harmony may take the place of a short-sighted policy and its resultant confusion. The open road to future peace must be planned with some such foresight as this. How it is to be done, how the regional planning is to proceed, is a question that has not yet been solved to the satisfaction of all men or all nations. There are even people who tell us there can be no open road that all the nations may be free to travel without being molested, and that any effort to build such an open road is futile and foolish.

Older Scriptures
"Modern Biblical scholars tell us that the saying, 'Blessed are the peace makers,' does not refer to those who make peace between the two parties to a quarrel. It means rather 'Blessed are those who create harmonious relations. Such people prevent quarrels, instead of trying to stop them after they are begun. Somehow, some day, a way must be found that will satisfy our people, by which such statesmen may be able to take their places in a council of nations to study the practical applications of the philosophy of peace. If the open road to peace is to be used by all the nations of the world, then every nation must have a part in its building."

PRE-SCHOOL CLINIC TO BE HELD LATE IN MONTH

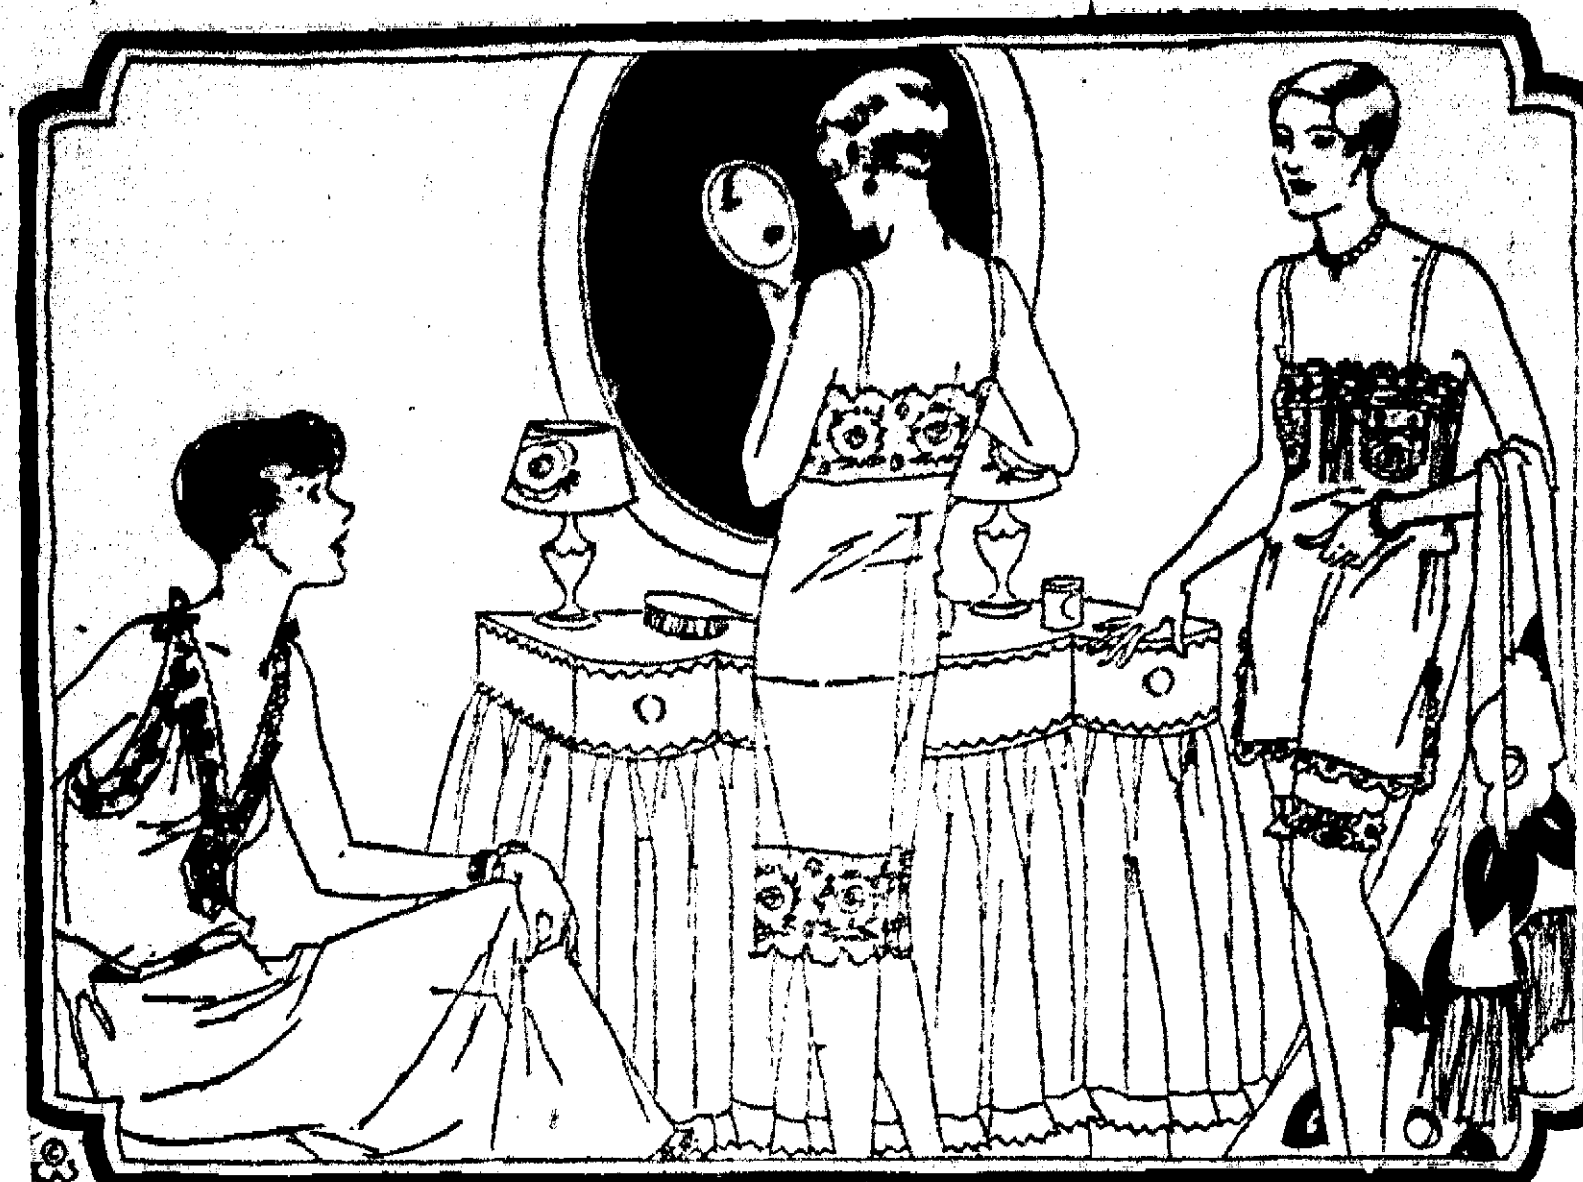

Two Physicians from State Board of Health To Supervise Work

A pre-school clinic to be held the last week in May is being planned by Health Commissioner Dr. W. J. Weaver and public health nurses. It was reported to the Board of Health at their meeting yesterday by Mrs. Mary Catherine Hane, city nurse. Because of the meeting of the medical association earlier in the month, the date of the clinic has been fixed as the last week of the month. Two physicians from the state board of health, are expected to be present.

Mrs. Hane, reported to the board that she had conferred with Miss Julia Grosup of Washington, D. C., representative of the American Red Cross and Mrs. Zoe McCaleb, of Columbus, chief of public health nursing of the State Health Department, with reference to the operation of the local Red Cross. She also reported she had taken two children to the Columbus clinic and was now engaged in conducting a simple child survey of the schools and that she had assisted in the examination of 158 school children during the month.

INFINITE PLAN RELIEF WORK IN EFFECT

Than 16,000 Homeless Hopeless Persons in Tent Cities

May 5 — From north and west the broken haze of homeless and hopeless persons to converge upon historic cities before noon and still the sun is shining brightly back and forth across the inland sea to bring down the leaves, the house of the trees.

Thousands are assigned to the bustling Red Cross camps, in national headquarters and in the homes of the injured and sick from the rescue boats.

On Military Basis
The city is organized on a military basis. No one knows as yet the task is to be, or how to do it.

He lands within the tent, the refugee has about his destiny until he is in the camp in the nation.

The great national shrine of the Siege of Vicksburg is his abiding place until he is upon northeastern shore. If he comes on a boat, he is charged by Red Cross headquarters the minute he sets foot on the shore.

He receives a primary examination and a copy of the city's plan. He is assigned to the tent which he is in. In this operation he is not the great majority pass the next stage registration.

Put To Work
The spotless white cards and the refugee is next classified to the character of the work he is to do. He is equipped to render in the organization of relief in the vocational training of new arrivals clear to the tent headquarters, where he is assigned to the work.

Food Shortage
The food shortage is being collected by national headquarters of the city, carried on, strict military rule is not rule throughout the camps more about freely, of their committee chairmen, but are not the grounds save on a daily basis. The problem of food is a daily problem.

And fresh meats have been placed, which, in view of the fact that the city is a railroad service in all directions, demand for food is a daily problem.

Questioning by police brought out the story of Granlee's courtship of wife No. 2.

They met at a party last December, the second wife said. Shortly after Granlee moved from Marion to Toledo. He took her to parties next door to his home and escorted her to church and Sunday school.

Granlee's arrest resulted from an article published in a Toledo paper in which Mrs. Granlee, No. 1, reported that her husband was missing.

Wife No. 2 read the article on her honeymoon in Santa Fe, near Belleville, and after confirming her suspicions asked her mother to send an officer for her husband.

Cornell Professor Blames Cutting Down of Forests, Drainage For River Flood

Nature's Guard Against Swollen Streams Are Now Practically Removed, Dr. E. Lawrence Palmer Tells Club
Women at Conservation Banquet

Cutting down of forests, draining of swamps, and tilting of fields, nature's guards against swollen streams, were held responsible for the present flood condition in the lower Mississippi valley by Dr. E. Lawrence Palmer, Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., national director of nature study, in his address at the conservation dinner of the Ohio State Federation of Women's Clubs last night at Masonic Temple.

The Masonic auditorium, where dinner was served by Lydia Chapter, Eastern Star, was filled to capacity and many turned away. Present were conservation delegates interested in the problem of conservation.

In making further reference to flood conditions in the lower Mississippi, Dr. Palmer deplored the lack of nature study in public schools. "Apparently we have not had time in our schools to raise a generation with the vision or knowledge sufficient to understand what would happen through such agricultural methods as brought about the Mississippi flood," he said. "Time was not the factor. We have learned and applied with pitiful results falsehoods which logic has repeatedly shown us have been wasteful and expensive."

Lack of Organization
"It has been proven in many instances that the excuse of 'no time' for nature study is merely lack of organization. The busiest people frequently have the most time and there are means known whereby injection of the philosophy of nature education into

MAN HELD ON BIGAMY CHARGE MARRIED HERE

Arthur Granlee, in Jail at Toledo, Wed First Wife in Marion

Arthur Granlee, 25, Toledo, formerly of Marion, who is held in Toledo on charges of bigamy, brought against him by his first wife, formerly of this city, told Toledo officials he was married to wife No. 1 in Marion four years ago.

Mr. Granlee and wife No. 1 left Marion six months ago to make their home in Toledo. Both are well known here, following an elopement.

Admits Charge
"I might as well admit it," Granlee told police shortly after he had been placed in a jail cell. "I'm married twice. I wanted a divorce but my first wife wouldn't let me go. I love No. 2 so much that I married her."

But wife No. 2, who at first would not believe that her husband had another wife, has renounced him. "I've washed my hands of him," she declared emphatically. "I certainly will testify against him. The idea of him marrying me—when his other wives lived only two blocks away."

face handed to him, in his hand and in a standing posture show the jury how he struck Snyder.

The spectators gasped. Some of the women turned their heads. Gray, his dark face blanching, stood up in the witness box and raised the weapon in both his hands. Then came down with a snarl, demonstrating how he had whacked the sleeping art editor.

Mrs. Snyder, her face very pale, closed her eyes. A shudder shot up the spines of even the most hardened reporters. Gray sat down, relieved.

Q.—So you used both hands? A.—Yes.

Q.—You remember very well how you did this? A.—I wouldn't say that.

Q.—But you have testified that you remembered everything. You remember yesterday on the stand, didn't you? A.—I do.

Q.—You have the same emotions now? A.—No.

Q.—What were you doing yesterday, feigning emotion? A.—No, sir.

Gray made this reply with a slight emphasis.

Q.—Your recital yesterday moved you, but your demonstration here today did not? A.—No.

"Kept Hounding Him"
Q.—Tell us the first time you heard Mrs. Snyder propose getting rid of Snyder. A.—It was in January or February, 1923, at the Imperial Hotel.

Q.—After that you discussed it very often? A.—Yes, sir, a number of times.

Q.—You say she kept hounding you with the suggestion? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—And told of other attempts on his life? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Did you suggest any of these attempts? A.—No, sir.

Q.—You say she made many attempts to kill Albert Snyder but it is a fact he was alive at the time you entered his room? A.—Yes.

Q.—No harm came to him until you went into the room and hit him? A.—No.

Q.—Your attempt on his life on March 19 was successful? A.—Yes.

Gray mentioned, under further questioning, that he entered on the plan to kill Snyder because Mrs. Snyder "dominated" him.

PLAN FOUR EXTENSIONS IN BUSINESS DISTRICT

City Planning Commission Provides for Enlarging Commercial Territory

Four extensions of the commercial district were provided for by the City Planning Commission at a meeting held in the mayor's office last night. Ordinances making the extensions will be presented to City Council next Monday night. Under the zoning ordinance, however, action cannot be taken for 30 days.

The largest extension asked for by the commission, is that extending the south and east borders of the zone. This extension which was adopted by the commission on Feb. 15 but has never been presented to council, provides for the continuation of the present boundary line between Prospect and Pearl-sts to the center of Columbus-st, thence east to the alley between State and Main-sts, thence north to the second alley south of Church-st; east to the alley between State and High-st; north to the first alley south of Church-st; east to Vine-st, north to Church-st; east to Baker-st, north to a point halfway between Church and Center-sts, east to Greenwood-st, north to the Big Four and west to the present zone.

Other Extensions
Other extensions adopted by the commission provide for a section extending from W. Church-st south along the Pennsylvania Railroad to a point 150 feet south of W. Church-st, east to the first alley between Olney and Park-bldg, then north to the present boundary. The third extension takes in the territory bounded by the present zone on the south and east and Leader-st on the north and the Big Four railroad on the north.

The fourth extension provides for the zone being extended from W. Center-st on Orchard-st to Church-st then east, where it joins the present boundary between Prospect and Pearl-sts.

These extensions, which have been under consideration by the City Planning Commission for some time, it is believed will help solve the problem confronting owners of close-in property who have been unable to sell for various purposes because of high values and who have been barred by the zoning ordinance from selling for commercial purposes.

25 HOGS ARE STOLEN
ON OTIS JOHNSON FARM

Thieves Take Stock from Shed; Truck Used; Place Lost at $400

Another livestock robbery was added to the list which has been accumulating in the western section of Marion County when thieves visited the farm of Otis Johnson, about a mile south of Agosta, last night, and stole 25 hogs valued at approximately $400.

This makes a total of about a dozen raids upon livestock in farms in that part of the county during the last two months, according to a statement made today by Sheriff Deal, who is directing a search for clues. Although lacking any definite information, he is of the opinion that an organized gang of thieves is at work.

A truck was used to haul away Johnson's hogs, which were taken from a shed located about a quarter of a mile from his home. A clue used by the thieves to drive the hogs into the truck was left behind and was found this morning by Johnson when he went to the shed and discovered the loss of his livestock. He immediately reported the theft to Sheriff Deal.

Value of livestock taken in the series of robberies recently is estimated at several thousand dollars. The stolen stock has consisted of sheep and hogs. Weight of the hogs stolen from the Johnson farm averaged about 100 pounds each, he informed the sheriff.

It will be possible to add the fourth story without increasing the height of the building, the commissioners stated today. This opinion is based upon the fact that distance between the floor and ceiling of the present top story is almost 22 feet, providing ample space, it is believed, for dividing it into two stories. When the plans were first considered it was thought that it might be necessary to raise the roof but it is now regarded as practically certain that this would not be required.

The present attitude of the public mind toward the criminal, the charge, "Public sentiment today throws a halo around the lawbreaker which results in almost universal disrespect for law. To get by has become the national sport. From the speed cop to the prohibition enforcement agent, the hero is the one who has made the most thrilling escape."

"If by chance the criminal is interrupted in his career the public is prompt with its excuse; he was abnormal, sub-normal, a moron suffering from some mental disease."

Perspectives Wrong
"Psychologists and sentimentalists have hurried so conscientiously on reform that our perspective has gone wrong. The most glaring weakness of our criminal procedure charged in the face of our law system."

"When we consider that only those who have no knowledge of the case can qualify we realize that in this day of the press, only one who perishes himself off is an ignoramus is eligible. Those who are alert and interested in the public's welfare are disqualified. Consequently instead of drawing in our best minds for this important work, we are trusting our moral well-being to a body of citizens, none to be seen of and frequently susceptible to bribery."

No Less Significant in Impending Justice is the abuse of our system of bail. Organized gangs require their members to pay dues into a common fund, known as "fall money" from which bail is furnished. If the state's evidence is strong the bond is forfeited.

RIN in Clouds
"But there is a rift in the cloud. New York City, that veritable den for thieves, is leading the way with its new famous Munnick law, which provides for life imprisonment for the fourth offense. Since this measure was enacted last July criminality has decreased 41 per cent."

"But their bodies of gunmen are coming west into Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati, Toledo and the other small communities in the middle west. Michigan has passed the Harris bill to combat this influx of the criminal element. The Ohio legislature has been forced to the Chamber bill, but many of their hearts for the law breaker that his fate hangs in the balance."

Postmaster General Harry New has barred from the mails the chain-coupon plan of selling silk stockings, holding that it is a lottery. But isn't any plan of buying silk stockings something of a lottery?

Under the laws of the state of New York, the most a woman whose $350 coat was lost in a restaurant check-room could get by way of damages was $75. The next time we wear our $350 fur coat to New York, it isn't going to be left in any old check-room; we're going to fold it up and sit on it.

Thomas Mason says that "most indecent books are so stupid that in order to get them read it is necessary to disguise them." How else could they be gotten to the kind of mind that attracted to them?

It is possible that much American objection to air travel between London and Paris will be obviated by the end of the present month, at which time aeroplanes capable of carrying twenty passengers and equipped with buffers and bars will be put into service.

Largest in the World.

Here in America we are so given to designing and developing and creating big things that we have become somewhat accustomed to bigness. We build today this, that or the other that is the biggest thing of the kind extant, and tomorrow we start to create and soon have developed something still bigger.

In no line is this more noticeable than in the construction of our hotels. Many of those in middle life can remember when stopping at the Fifth Avenue in New York or the Palmer House in Chicago was considered an experience. Those who have not yet reached middle life can recall how the Auditorium hotel in the Windy City was considered about the limit in hotel architecture.

Now different today! In almost any large city we now have hotels which are to those of twenty or thirty years ago, as a high-power incandescent lamp is to a candle, while the chief cities of the land now offer the traveler accommodations in hotels which can house the population of a city of minimum size.

The very latest and largest of these magnificent caravansaries is the $27,000,000, twenty-nine-story Stevens, opened Monday, which extends for a full block along Michigan boulevard in Chicago from Seventh to Eighth streets. It has 3,000 outside rooms with private baths. Four and half stories are devoted to public space. It has a library of 25,000 volumes, an exhibition hall covering 35,000 square feet, the largest and most beautiful ball-room in the world and seven smaller ball-rooms. It has over 100 large display rooms, four splendid restaurants, a large popular-priced lunch room, many private dining-rooms, and a two-story colonnade on the roof for dining and dancing. There is a beauty salon and a large play-room for children. In addition to shops of all kinds, there are bowling alleys, billiard and pool rooms, recreation-rooms for women and club-rooms for men and a theater with a seating capacity of 1,200 directly connected with the main building. And all these may be enjoyed at from three to fifteen dollars a day according to the size and furnishings of the room.

At the present rate, where is the race for convenience, size and magnificence in hotel construction going to end? Guided by the history of the past, we can not make even an intelligent guess.

How Much Longer?

So much money has been expended by our government in so many and so much less worthy ways that it is hard to understand why the tomb of our "Unknown Soldier" in Arlington cemetery has never been completed.

In selecting the site for the tomb of our "Unknown Soldier," our government departed from the course of the governments with which we were associated in the World war. Each of them selected as the site of the tomb of the soldier body typical of its unknown dead some great building or monument already in existence. The remains of the "Unknown Soldier" of Great Britain rest in Westminster Abbey, in London, where are entombed so many others of her illustrious dead. The body of Belgium's "Unknown Soldier" was given sepulcher at the base of imposing Congress column on the height overlooking the lower city of Brussels. In Paris, all that is mortal of the "Unknown Soldier" of France lies beneath the massive and awe-inspiring Arc de Triomphe, which, centered as it is in the Place de l'Etoile from which radiate twelve great avenues, has easily the most beautiful setting in all the world. The tomb of Italy's "Unknown Soldier" is located in the massive white and gold monument to King Victor Emmanuel, which is built against the north cliff of the Capitoline hill and stands out, as a writer has remarked, as "the most obvious thing in Rome."

Our government did not see fit to follow the course pursued by these governments, but took the body of our "Unknown Soldier" across the Potomac to beautiful Arlington, where it rests in the pedestal for a monument to harmonize with it, but the monument has not yet even been designed. As a matter of fact there is no money available with which to pay for the drawing of the plans and a complete design. Under a joint resolution passed by congress last July, the secretary of war was authorized to secure competitive designs for the completion of the tomb, but an appropriation providing $50,000 for its completion failed as did so many other appropriations at the last session of congress.

Five and a half years have elapsed since November 11, 1921, when the body of our "Unknown Soldier" was committed to the pedestal in which it rests, and yet his tomb is incomplete. How much longer can the honor and dignity of the United States and the debt of esteem and gratitude she owes those who died while serving her permit the last resting place of our "Unknown Soldier" in our national "City of the Dead" to go unfinished?

Two more naval flyers were killed at Hampton Roads, Tuesday, their machine breaking into flame when it was 500 feet in the air. We may not have much of an air force, but were it half so deadly to an enemy in time of war as it is to our aviators in time of peace, it would be in a class by itself.

A Detroit whiskey runner told the royal commission in Windsor that his business amounted to $5,000,000 a year. And he is but one of many! We simply can not escape the feeling that a lot of drinking is being done in this country.

The United States immigration inspectors who shot and killed an aviator who was trying to escape arrest out in Los Angeles have been exonerated by a coroner's jury. It looks pretty hard to kill a man under such circumstances, but people smuggling Chinamen into this country by aeroplane must take the consequences of their defiance of law.

"God Almighty has blessed Chicago," says Mayor William Hale Thompson, of that city, "with everything there is." Bill will have a hard time making a lot of his fellow-citizens believe the Almighty was responsible for the result of the last majority election up there.

Both London and Paris are having their troubles running down spies hired by soviet Russia to steal their military secrets. Still, having recognized Russia, they can hardly complain. They knew the Russians before such recognition was extended. Happily, we have not fallen into the same error, despite all the appeals of that great friend of the Russian soviets, the Hon. William E. Borah, of Idaho.

Has anybody ever seen the likeness of any being in the likeness of man who holds that the printing in detail of such cases as that of the Brownings or the present Snyder murder trial is of any possible benefit to humanity?

Mexican federal troops have killed thirty-nine more of the murderers who burned up a trainload of passengers down there, making 105 executions, thus far, in punishment of those responsible for the sickening horror. There are several localities on this side of the Rio Grande where troops capable of running down criminals like that might be used pretty effectively, and we are looking out toward Illinois when we say it.

Vagrant Verse.

AN ANCIENT HOUSE.

The heart may worship still at Beauty's shrine, And in the litany of lovely things There is a captivating magic which About an ancient house allurement flings. As pure in rhythmic music as the flow Of Bacchic dancers round an antique vase, Or as the milk-white limbs of Attic girls Whose wind-traited garments can not hide their grace. Against the arching plumes of friendly trees The virgin beauty of its white robe gleams As glows the mist-fringed, dazling waterfall That from the shoulder of the mountain streams. The doorway is a scarf of ivory lace Whose wizard texture weaves the lure again That links the vision to the ways of earth. Like frozen music through the dreams of men, The heart may worship still at Beauty's shrine, For in God's garden many a symbol glows: The silver-scented twilight through the mist, The tremendous rose of dawn across the snows. The somber glory of old forest trees, The tender leafy flags that April flies, The multitudinous shining hosts that march The shadow-highways of the midnight skies. But these are miracles that stand aloof In perfect artistry beyond our ken—An ancient dwelling is as near to these As any necromancy wrought by men.

DROPPING THE PILOT.

Helping To Baffle Disease.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

One of the most thrilling messages of the World War was the news that General Allenby had taken Jerusalem. Most of the great religious centers in Palestine. There is an appeal in this land that no other possesses.

Any announcement from Jerusalem catches and holds the eye. The other day I read that Nathan Straus is building a model health center in the Holy City. It is to be turned over to Hadassah, an organization conducting a system of public health work in Palestine.

This building has been named "The House of Health." It will be located a number of activities intended to prevent disease.

This establishment has a more important function than the cure of disease. It is dedicated to the guarding of the populace against preventable and curable diseases. There will be a plant for the pasteurizing of milk. Infant welfare, prenatal care, medical and school inspection, maternity service, campaigns against trachoma and malaria—these will be the particular objects of the House of Health.

There will be a diet kitchen, a gymnasium, an auditorium for health lectures, a dental clinic and other health promoting features. Free milk and free soup will be distributed to the poor.

I wish you could know Mr. Straus as I know him. What he has done for health, particularly of mothers and babies, makes him the outstanding figure in the world today. He is one of the heroes of history.

It is very fitting that this institution should be established as a memorial to his wife, Mrs. Straus has been the stimulating and encouraging force in the life of her husband. She has gone along with him all these years, sharing his troubles and doubling his joys. Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Straus are the friends of man.

The opening of this House of Health is a reminder that most of the diseases of early life and middle age are diseases which can be escaped. By right living and scientific care, many persons who die in these age periods are incapacitated, could be saved if they but knew and would do the right things.

The way to make old age happy and useful is to live right in youth and middle age. Our friends, Mr. and Mrs. Straus, learned this lesson and practiced it. They are helping the world to know and practice it.

Every house should be a house of health. Every body should be a temple of health. The simple rules of hygiene will make possible all our dreams for physical vigor and long life.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

G.W.P. Q.—I have a peculiar itching which bothers me in the winter months. It is very itchy. What do you suppose it is?

A.—Probably urticaria and due to some food which causes irritation. For particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

P.H. Q.—What causes small red veins to appear on my cheeks?

A.—This may be due to poor circulation. Build up your general health by proper dieting and exercising. For details send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

A.M.M. Q.—What do you advise for perspiration under the arms?

A.—This is usually due to a disorder of the sympathetic system. Hot water compresses applied under the arm for half an hour are beneficial. You should have treatment for the nervous condition.—Copyright, 1927.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this office.

Reduction Will Be Noticeable. Police have begun to drive the bad men out of Chicago who are told. If the work is diligently kept up Chicago will not be able to blow about a gain in population for a long, long time.—Milwaukee Journal.

Has a Suspicious Look. We are thinking of getting some other kind of lock than a padlock for our garage, to avoid misapprehension among the neighbor women.—Ohio State Journal.

Still, the Public Fails for Km. Even a public debate on the prohibition question turns out to be a pretty dry affair.—Baltimore Sun.

Let all those that seek Thee rejoice and be glad in Thee: let such as love Thy salvation say continually: The Lord be magnified.—Psalm 68:10.

Prayer—O, magnify the Lord with me and let us exalt His name together.

Editorial Comment.

GERMANY'S REMARKABLE RECOVERY.

Whatever rumors have been circulated in past months or recent years questioning Germany's progress out of her war depression, a report just issued by the Association of British Chambers of Commerce, compiled by an expert and containing conclusions reached in an extended tour, should set them at rest. For this report shows clearly that Germany, by "steady, plodding work," which "is the order of the day," has made a remarkable recovery from her former postwar difficulties.

As to what will be the effects of some of the methods at present being used only the future can tell. The writer of this report, however, speaks of a "spirit of enterprise and will to improve and advance in industry" which should prove of lasting value. There is greater question, maybe, regarding the fact that he sees no prospect of Germany's adhering effectively to the Washington eight-hour day agreement, in this connection it being noted that a fifty-four, fifty-five, fifty-seven and fifty-nine-hour week is being worked in first-class establishments possessing up-to-date machinery in their particular branch.

Whatever may be thought of the details of the process of recovery through which Germany is passing, however, now that its restoration is becoming an accomplished fact one can look with more of hope in the future than was the case even comparatively recently. The world is coming fast to realize that so long as a part of its body politic is in distress the rest of it can not be entirely free from trouble. One can not, therefore, but see as auspicious the statement that the country's mines, towns and villages all show remarkable extensions and improvements compared with pre-war days.

On his earlier visits, this writer says, it was painfully evident that the standard of living and general comfort had been greatly lowered. Each visit, however, showed that there was a fixed determination to get back to a higher standard, and this, it appears, is being gradually achieved. There is every reason to believe, therefore, that it may not be long before whatever was good in pre-war Germany will have once more come into its own, while certain qualities that have been not so desirable will have passed through the furnace and come out purified and improved.—Christian Science Monitor.

NO GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

The consolidated Pennsylvania railroad system embraces 11,041 miles of road, with track mileage of 28,000 miles.

In 1926 the Pennsylvania system employed on the average 217,000 persons, to whom it paid in wages $30,000,000, or about fifty-one per cent. of its revenues.

In taxes the road paid $10,500,000, an increase of $5,200,000 over the previous year. It paid for fuel, materials, supplies and improvements more than $200,000,000.

The Pennsylvania operates 3,300 passenger trains and is represented throughout the world by efficient foreign passenger agent service.

The Pennsylvania is one of the big heart arteries of the American institutions of government and commerce.

In no other land can there be found the equal of this more toward all material advancement of the national destiny than all other combined industries and agencies. In making their own wheels go round they influence the revolution of all the other wheels of industry. Without the American railway systems Father Time would have abundant leisure to sit down and whet his scythe while pondering upon the slowness of things in general.

It is no uncommon thing to hear these great institutions, their management and works, utterly damned by the wild-eyed communist and the featherweight philosophers who advocate a policy of government ownership of all public utilities.

But the American people will never toss their railroad systems into the maelstrom of speculative socialism and illegitimate economic theories. They have learned to understand that the true ownership of these great enterprises rests in their own possession.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

All that can be said for some new ideas is that they are new. Progress may mean progressing back to something we used to have. In some departments of thinking and acting there has been an advance for 2,000 years. The idea that wealth is to be desired above all things, and is worth making any sacrifice for, has developed tremendously in modern times. Here is a case where there ought to be progress backward.

Are you sure, says Albert Parker Fitch, educator, that your wealth doesn't show you up instead of showing you off?

A man died in a southern Ohio town and left a strange will. He bequeathed his property to the United States treasury in payment of a debt of gratitude to the government for the liberty and happiness he had long enjoyed under the same government.

The man's love and loyalty were admirable. Wouldn't it be better, though, if folks lived in such a way as to show their love and loyalty to country—and left their money to some one who needs it more than the United States government?

What do you know about calories? A calorie is the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of one gram of water one degree centigrade. We have to take into our system a great many calories daily to keep us going. The human system goes all the time. Children go faster and faster than grown-ups. Therefore children require more calories. The human being never stops completely until it stops in death.

Good rules of health are usually rules of reason. There is no one rule for all of us. If you know any men or women between the ages of eighty and 100 you will be interested in talking to them about their rules for health. You will find no agreement among them. One man, living to be 100, says he has had a drink of whiskey every day for twenty years and smoked more of the time. The next man, living to be 100, attributes his good health to the fact that he never drank or smoked.

A woman, known to the writer, is past eighty. She has been an invalid for forty or fifty years. She attributes her long life to the fact that her invalidism has made her take good care of herself.

Watch yourself. A rule good for somebody else may be bad for you. Use the rule of reason.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. G. MINTINE.

New York, May 3.—The opening of a Broadway movie house has long since eclipsed the high-class theatrical premieres in point of interest and drawing the cognoscenti. Bunches are roped off and patrolled by cordon of police and mounted men.

Even ambulances are in the offing to take care of those injured in the crush. Only those with tickets are permitted in the area. The highest price so far recorded is $11 a seat, but on the night of the opening speculators were offering $35 each.

Curiosity-seekers use the curb in hope of seeing the sprinkling of cinema stars pass in their dazzling cars. It is rather amusing to watch their efforts to achieve a studied indifference. State and city dignitaries also arrive with their explosive motorcyclo escorts.

Batteries of cameras snap the celebrities in clouds of flashlight smoke. In the foyer will be found more silk hats and robes of pearls than will be found at the opera's horseshoe circle. The social register is generously represented.

The mammoth movie-houses are indeed marvels of efficiency and comfort. They have their separate hospitals for men and women and one specializes in a clinic where those with colds may be treated before taking their seats.

The ushers—125 are on the job in one and 100 in another—are hand-picked college men trained and drilled by army top sergeants. Inspectors near the entrance register the vacant seats. Each usher carries a kit bag containing pad and pencil, smelling salts and fast-light.

There are rest-rooms and writing-rooms. Twelve persons are in charge of one lost-and-found department. The symphony orchestras have more than 100 members. And it is to the movie world's credit that prices have been held down. The top price on Broadway is $1.10.

It has been estimated there are more than 100,000 who use these patented chair-lighting in New York. And as an aid several theaters, department stores and hotels have opened filling stations where they may be filled with gasoline free. No flapper is complete without one to snap. And the glorified lighters are now inset with watches, rosette pots and lip sticks.

A wealthy New Yorker offered his daughter just out of a touz finishing-school $100,000 if she would not smoke until her marriage. She accepted, got the check and married a jobless juvenile the next day.

Speaking of smoking, there is an actor who does not smoke. He was given a part that required him to sit at a desk and smoke a cigar when his wife called. Much of the conversation hinged on his smoking in her presence. At the first rehearsal he smoked awhile, turned a pea green and rushed for the wings. He made two later starts, but finally gave up the part.

The carelessly-tossed lighted cigar and cigarette ends have cost New York millions in fires. New York hotels—say the damage to their carpets from the same careless gesture is one of the chief reasons for a maintenance of high tariffs. In the suite of a royal hotel after her departure not long ago it was found the carpets in each room were ruined by burnt cigarette holes.

SELECTED NOMINATING BOARD OF CLUBS

Federation To Elect at Next Convention; Pass Resolutions

R. Fox, Cincinnati, Mrs. Robert, Toledo, Mrs. C. G. Snook, W. R. Sharp, Columbus and Jones, Cleveland, were elected nominating committee at the afternoon meeting of members of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs at the First Presbyterian church. Officers of the organization chosen at the next annual meeting of belief and faith in the constitutional amendment which will provide for a uniform marriage and divorce law was endorsed in the resolutions presented by Mrs. Rose Brown, of Cleveland, chairman of business resolutions and adopted by the convention delegates. Other resolutions adopted included the annual of allegiance to the constitution of the United States of America, re-affirmation of belief in the wisdom of national and state prohibition of the use of intoxicating liquor, opposition to any weakening of the national and state enforcement laws and adequate appropriation for such enforcement, and the approval of a plan looking to the naturalization of aliens.

Boatmen Problem
Seriousness of the problem of the boatmen and smuggled alien, expressing itself in the illegal entry of hundreds of thousands of aliens every year was cited in the last named resolution as a necessity for the measure. The resolution also urged provision of the fullest opportunity of the alien to prepare himself for American citizenship with the provision that after a reasonable period of preparation, he be admitted to American citizenship if he be found worthy of that privilege. If he be unworthy the resolution urged that he be sent back to the place apprehended and deported according to law.

Afternoon Program
Don Scott Morrison, of Napoleon, opened the afternoon program with a piano solo and reports were given by Mrs. C. H. Case, Akron, vice president of the North-East District, and Mrs. J.
A. Morrison, Napoleon, vice president of the North-West District. Miss Anna Johnson, Springfield, chairman of the department of American Citizenship,

tion," and Mrs. Charles Halter, Fremont, and Mrs. D. C. Bryant, Bowling Green, Mrs. J. L. Selby, of Greenville, presented the report of the Loan Scholarship Fund and Mrs. Charles Halter presented her report on legislation. The address of the afternoon was given by James T. Deetz, of Sandusky, representative from the thirteenth district.
Report given by Mrs. Bryant is to be found elsewhere in today's issue of the Star.

Night Speakers
Mrs. Rufus Daves, Chicago, chairman of International Relations of the General Federation, and Mrs. William Alford, Detroit, chairman of American Citizenship of the General Federation, were the speakers last night. Mrs.
Daves spoke on "The Open Road to Peace," and Mrs. Alford on "Citizenship, Woman's Opportunity." Mrs.
Daves' address is carried on another page of today's issue of The Star.

Members of the Lecture-Recital Club opened the program with "Seraphic Song." Helen Stein, paraphrased by Samuel Richard Gates, which they presented most artistically, under the direction of Mrs. Maude MacIntosh, of Kenton, director of the club. They were assisted by Mrs. C. L. Rutherford, soloist, Mrs. Harry T. Williams, organist, Miss Ruth Chilcote, Mt. Gilead, harpist, Miss Helen Bever, pianist, and Morris Sager, student at the Cleveland Institute of Music, violinist. Ms.
Sager also played the obligato in the concluding number of a delightful group sung by Mrs. Earl Van Horn, of Hamilton. Mrs. Harold K. Mosser played piano accompaniments for Mrs. Van Horn who sang "Ah! Love But a Day," Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, "Night
Wind," Farley and "Ave Marie," Gounod.

Makes Plea
A plea for the exercising of the rights and responsibilities of citizenship in America by the men and women of America was made by Mrs. Alford in her talk on "Citizenship, Woman's Opportunity." She cited the modern conveniences and other changes in the American home as being responsible for woman's opportunities in becoming actively interested in problems of community, state, national and international interest but declared that making the world a good place to live in was not a job delegated to women alone. "I do not believe in voting for a woman just because she is a woman but until we have more even representation, all things being equal, I will vote for a woman because I think women are needed," she stated.

Training Need, Claim
"I am convinced that the rank and file of club women are voting but we must be responsible for our neighbor who is not. That is the next step in our Americanization work. Many of our men's clubs need training such as we are giving to our own club women, many men are indifferent to voting as well as women."

"Citizenship does begin in communities but before you stop you must reach out to those other countries.
You women have a marvelous opportunity to make of American citizenship something that will go down through the ages."

Forestry Chief Tells Why Flood's Worst in History

Trees Once Prevented Heavy Overflows, W. B. Greeley Declares

BY CHARLES F. STEWART
WASHINGTON, May 6.—The worst flood in American history?
Well Chief W. B. Greeley of the agriculture department's forest service certainly would say so.

In fact, he considered that a devastated midwest of expressing it.
Why, this has been the worst flood the Mississippi valley ever knew—but only in historic times, but in pre-historic times, likewise.
They didn't think of having such floods back when Hernando de Soto first sighted the Father of Waters.

They didn't have 'em when Columbus was making the egg stand on end.
The original Indians and buffalo never heard of such a thing.
This has been the worst flood the Mississippi valley has had since there's been a Mississippi valley.

As this is according to the forest service of the United States department of agriculture.
How does the forest service know so much about what things were like long before the country was discovered?
—long before there were any measurments or army engineers or weather bureau or anything?

It knows, rejoins Chief Greeley, because it stands to reason that the Mississippi must have behaved itself when its headwaters and the headwaters of all its tributaries were in thickly-wooded country.

THE rain fell, pitter-patter on the leaves and dripped off gradually.
The snow melted and started little rivulets, but they had to twist and turn, every which-way, to get around big tree trunks, and they didn't get down hill very fast, there were so many detours to be taken into account.
The tree roots absorbed lots of moisture, too.

Besides, the ground was covered with moss and decaying vegetation, which sopped up water like a sponge. To be sure, a good deal of it oozed out again, but it was all summer doing it.
They didn't have had floods in those days. They couldn't.

THEN along came a huge army of vandals and amputated those foreests, slick and clean.
They chopped down the trees or set fire to 'em. They grubbed up even the stumps or blew 'em to smithereens with dynamite. And they never planted a blamed stick of timber in place of 'em.

Today there's a big rainstorm, or the snow melts and lets loose billions of gallons of water.
It goes rampaging down those bare hillsides like a millrace.
It hits the bottom her-ash-aah!—
same as dashing it out of a bucket.

NATURALLY the brooks swell up and then the creeks and then the rivers and the Mississippi overflows and the very devil's to pay, and everybody says:
"Goddang the Mississippi! How in the nation are we going to control this blinky-blink stream, anyway?"
It ain't going to control it. That's all these schemes leave Chief Greeley cold. Trees! They're his program.
How long will it take? Oh, a generation or two. But we may as well get busy, he opines, because otherwise things are going to get worse right along, instead of better.

FLOOD RELIEF BENEFIT DANCE PLANS COMPLETED

Crowd of Record Proportions Expected at Crystal Lake Park Tonight

Advance sale of tickets for the Mississippi flood relief benefit dance to be given tonight at Crystal Lake Park pavilion is going strong. Indicating that the event will result in a large contribution to the flood funds, Fred B. Scherff, manager of the park, stated today.

The entire proceeds of the dance will be turned over to the Red Cross as a part of Marion County's $4,200 quota in the nation's $10,000,000 fund for the flood area. This was made possible by the Crystal Lake Park Co. donating the pavilion and also services of the Crystal Lake Park Co. orchestra, a 10-piece recording orchestra, for the benefit. Marion County Chapter of the Red Cross is backing the dance with every resource available and the officers have urged all citizens to contribute to the enterprise.

The admission charge will be 50 cents, which may be paid at the pavilion or to solicitors handling the advance ticket sale. Five thousand tickets were printed and most of these were placed in the hands of a large corps of boys who have been canvassing the city since arrangements for the benefit were completed Tuesday afternoon. The boys report that they are meeting with a generous response from citizens generally. Purchasers of the tickets include many persons who do not dance but who are supporting the enterprise solely for the cause that it represents, knowing that all of the money taken in will go to the flood relief fund.

With weather conditions favorable it is predicted that a crowd of record proportions will attend the benefit event. Richards Ramlers, the orchestra which is to give the program, will

Ohio Club Women are Urged to Study Agricultural Problems

FARM BUREAU SPEAKER SAYS HELP NEEDED

Mrs. Charles W. Sewell Declares Federation Members Have Obligation to Fill

American agriculture is undergoing a terrible crisis and if American club women of both city and country arouse themselves to study existing conditions and assist in finding some workable solution, they will have contributed immeasurably not only to their own day and generation but to those who are to come after us as well.

"A city woman will be interested and perhaps surprised to learn that the transportation charges of the farmer enters largely into the total amount of her grocery bill. That out of the high price she pays for items of food, a significant small price eventually goes back to the producer. She does not realize that co-operative marketing holds any benefit for her, and yet the late Henry Wallace often said, 'Co-operative marketing is applied Christianity for it eventually benefits both producer and consumer.' If the city woman is the wife of a manufacturer she is vitally interested in the figures that point out what the farmer buys.

"Agriculture is a determining factor in our economic welfare.

"It normally exerts a purchasing power for nearly ten billion dollars worth of goods and services of other groups annually.

"It purchases annually about a tenth of the value of the products of our manufacturing industries.

"It supplies materials upon which depend industries giving employment to nearly half of our industrial workers.

"It pays indirectly about two and a half billions in wages of urban workers.

"It supplies about an eighth of the total tonnage of freight carried by our railroads.

"Its products constitute nearly half of the value of our exports.

"It pays in taxes one-fifth of the total cost of government.

"The capital invested in it in 1919 more than equaled that invested in our manufacturing industries, mines and railroads combined.

"It represents about a fifth of our national wealth, and normally contributes about a sixth of the national income.

"Since it supplies not only the food for our industrial workers, but about a third of the materials of our industries and a market for a large part of their products, it forms the basis of our industrial prosperity.

"Since, also, the farm population forms about thirty per cent of our total population and constitutes a reservoir from which must be drawn a large part of our future citizens, the standards of living and the social welfare of this group cannot but have an important effect upon the racial quality of our people.

"If the farmer's buying power continues to decline, there will be idle factories, cold chimneys and armies of unemployed men as a result. The farm woman belongs to the federated club pattern, thrift, industry and punctuality. She may take back with her a wide view of life as a whole, a new sense of relative values and the necessity for group action.

"In the change and stress of our modern civilization, there is much need of better homes, whether in city or country. In our more crowded centers much that formerly went with homes must be disregarded. More and more will the responsibility rest upon the house in the open country and it is the job of every woman in America to see to it that every honorable means is taken to preserve it as an American institution of the highest type."

FRENCH AIRMAN MAKES DARING OCEAN FLIGHT

Captain St. Roman Defies Government, Takes Floats Off Plane

Rio Janeiro, May 3.—A daring flight across the south Atlantic is in progress today, according to reports received here.

Defying orders of the French government that he make no attempt to fly across the Atlantic without floats on his plane, Captain St. Roman, French aviator, is reported to have hoisted off from St. Louis, Senegal, early today for Pernambuco.

The dispatches state that the flight is "unofficial" and Captain St. Roman is making it on his own responsibility.

Early in his flight, Captain St. Roman found that the floats attached to his plane were so heavy that they decreased his ability to climb. He detached the floats. One member of the party refused to continue. Then the French government ordered him to resign the floats or abandon the flight. Now reports state that he has defied his government and is making a hazardous attempt.

If Captain St. Roman should be forced down on the water it is doubtful whether he could keep afloat for more than an hour or so and possibly not that long without floats.

FIRST CIRCUS OF SEASON COMES TO MARION TODAY MORNING

UNLOADING, CIRCUS CARS

THE steam rallopie will sound in Marion Friday and every old man who hears it will thrill with the remembrance of how one time he carried water for the elephant, or coaxed the boy who did, and the little fellow who hears the musical tools and sees the man sitting on the big contraption making the whistles blow every time he fingers the keyboard, will chase along to the show grounds where the Walter L. Main Circus will hold forth.

The circus will arrive here early Friday morning from Tiffin, coming in on the Pennsylvania Railroad, via Bucyrus, and probably unloading at the W. Center-st. crossing. The circus will show afternoon and night on the Drake lot, at Greenwood and Fairgrounds. The circus leaves here at midnight Friday for Mansfield, going over the Pennsylvania by Bucyrus.

The big street parade will leave the show grounds shortly before noon and will travel over the principal downtown streets.

Among the many big novelties and spectacular offerings to be found with the Walter L. Main Circus this year will be Madame Julia Roberts, sensation of continental Europe, Intrepid French artist who loops the loop in a bicycle at every performance. This marks the first appearance in America of Madame Roberts and everywhere her daring art has been shown she has been accorded an ovation. The Hollis Riding Troupe, England's champion barrel-back equestrians, with Pinkie Hollis, world's greatest somersault rider, also provides one of high spots to the big program.

Among the most daring acrobats ever known in the circus world are the three members of the Brock family who execute single, double and triple revolutions in perilous mid-air feats—somersaulting from the flying trapeze to the bar. This trio performs each afternoon and evening with the Main circus.

Other featured acts are as follows: DeLong sisters, Belgium's sensational equilibrist; Koban and Sakata, noted Japanese equilibrist who walk up a flight of stairs on their heads; Sylvester Brothers, sensational acrobats, champions of the antipodes; Lyle and Irene Cooney, brother and sister and sister dancing on a lofty fifty wire; Yokoi Trio, Intrepid bicycle riders from the Far East; and the Maxwell Trio, sensational triple bar gymnasts.

$100,000 SUIT TO BE HEARD IN FEDERAL COURT

Judge Scofield Orders Transfer of Large Damage Action

A suit for $100,000 damages brought against the Erie Railroad Co. by How and E. Moore, a former employee, will be transferred from the Marion County common Pleas Court to the United States District Court at Toledo as the result of an order issued yesterday by Common Pleas Judge George B. Scofield.

The order was issued on the grounds that there is diversity of citizenship between the parties involved, meaning that they are located in different states. The Erie Railroad Co. is incorporated under the laws of New York and Moore is a resident of Ohio, making it necessary to hear the suit in a federal court.

The law provides that where there is such diversity of citizenship, state courts have no jurisdiction in suits involving more than $2,000.

Moore recently filed suit in the Court of Common Pleas for injuries alleged to have been sustained in an accident at the Erie shops here. He is represented by the law firm of Mosser, Young & Mosser.

Suit Dismissed

The divorce suit of Alice Gutberly against Damon Gutberly was dismissed yesterday, at request of the plaintiff.

The suit was brought on June 18 of last year, the plaintiff asking for a divorce and restoration of her maiden name, Alice Copeland. They were married Oct. 4, 1916.

Sale Ordered

In the foreclosure suit of the Home Building, Savings & Loan Co. against George S. McGuire and others sale of the property was continued, deed ordered and proceeds distributed in an order entered on the Common Pleas court docket, yesterday. The plaintiff company was awarded judgment for $1,752.50.

Report Approved

In a proceeding in Common Pleas court started by trustees of the Green Camp Baptist Church, asking for permission to mortgage the church property in order to reduce present indebtedness, Judge Scofield yesterday approved the report of the trustees, thus finalizing the proposed mortgage.

Granted Divorce

Jessie Soule was granted a divorce from William G. Soule following hearing of her suit in Common Pleas court yesterday. She was also granted custody of their child and Soule was ordered to pay $20 a month for its support. The payments to be made through the Marion County Humane Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Soule were married Jan. 23, 1926. The wife charged her husband with gross neglect and failure to provide and the decree was granted on those grounds. Soule contested the suit and was present at the hearing yesterday. Mrs. Soule is 19 years of age.

Case Reopened

The divorce suit of Hazel Donough against Leonard Donough, ordered dissolved several days ago, was reopened and returned to the docket yesterday at request of the plaintiff. Mr. and Mrs. Donough were married in Monroe, Mich., on Dec. 2, 1918.

$500 Suit Filed

Suit for $500 for alleged breach of contract in connection with a real estate transaction was brought at the Court of Common Pleas yesterday by Lela May Siples and William H. Siples against Orrie S. Wylie and Helen M. Wylie. The petition was filed by Attorney J. W. Jacoby.

The plaintiffs allege that on Sept. 8, 1925 they entered into a contract to exchange 77 acres of land in Adams township for property located at 263 N. Grand-av. owned by the defendants.

Under terms of the agreement, the petition states, the transfer was to be made on or before Oct. 1, 1926. At that time, the plaintiffs state, they were ready and willing to proceed but the defendants refused to fulfill their part of the agreement.

A provision in the contract, the petition states, stipulated that a forfeit of $500 should be paid by either party failing to carry out the agreement. On the basis of this claim the suit for $500 was brought.

Residence Leveled and Volunteer Fireman Injured in Blaze

Northwest Ohio Oratorical Contest at Carey Friday Night

HUNDREDS OF PERSONS DRAWN TO FIRE SCENE

Completely Modern Home on Hoagland Farm, Near La Rue, Destroyed

La Rue, May 3.—Loss of several thousand dollars was sustained and a volunteer fireman painfully injured when fire last night leveled the farm residence on the Wayne Hoagland farm, one-half mile north of here.

The large and completely modern 10-room structure with a part of its contents was completely destroyed.

Elimination of the house being visible from every section of the northwest part of the county shortly after the fire was discovered at 9 o'clock attracted hundreds of persons to the scene.

Protect Other Buildings

Efforts of the La Rue fire department and a corps of volunteer fighters was confined to the protection of several nearby farm buildings. Quick spreading of the residence blaze prevented effective work in its control.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoagland with the latter's sister, Miss Alma Riley were preparing to retire when they noticed a strange illumination of the grounds surrounding the dwelling. First believing the chimney to be "burning out" from a fire just started in the furnace, they investigated and found the outside roof ablaze.

Chills for aid were dispatched to La Rue and throughout the neighborhood. In a short time, several were engaged in removing the house furnishings. Practically all the first floor contents were saved.

Roof Caves

While several men were removing furniture from the second floor, a portion of the blazing roof caved in, pinning Harry Miller, 22, a neighbor, beneath it.

Following volunteers extricated him from the burning mass and assisted him to the open air. He sustained wrenching shoulder injuries and several bruises. His condition is not considered serious.

No estimate of the fire loss was officially made here today. It will amount to several thousand dollars. The structure had served as a residence for a generation and was one of the show places of the countryside. Partial protection is available through insurance. The cause of the fire was believed to be a defective flue.

The fire last night is the second heavy loss of this nature on the Hoagland farm in the last two years. Lightning, two years ago this summer, struck a large barn there and it was destroyed by fire.

SPECIAL AGENT SPEAKS ON SUBJECT OF SAFETY

E. H. Clark, Pennsylvania Railroad, Addresses Upper Sandusky Students

Upper Sandusky, May 5.—Safety in the home, about the streets and highways and at railroad crossings was discussed by E. H. Clark, special agent in charge of safety work for the local division of the Pennsylvania railroad, in a talk to the school children here yesterday morning. Clark is addressing various schools along the Port Wayne division in observance of school safety week by railroads throughout the country.

He said in part: "At railroad crossings in this country last year, 2,492 persons lost their lives and 6,991 were injured. In the United States there are more than 250,000 grade crossings. The average cost of grade separation is $30,000 so to eliminate the grade crossings on the Pennsylvania system alone would cost in excess of one billion, 90 million dollars. And the work would take years and years to complete. After it is done we would still have 238,000 grade crossings left."

"Preventing accidents is a matter of education. Railroad crossings are not the only places where people are killed. Automobile accidents of all kinds during the single month of February resulted in 1,340 deaths in the United States. Nine hundred and sixty were pedestrians and of those pedestrians 300 were under the age of 15."

Sophs Lead in Harding Inter-Class Track Meet

McAnnich, Zimmer, Schults Get Most Points; Field Events To Be Held Tonight

Good Marks Set as Teams Clash for High Honors; Sophs Lead with 24 Points; Seniors Receive 23 and Juniors Trail with Eight Counters

By Eddie Schoenleber

Sports Editor, The Star

ALTHOUGH handicapped by the absence of cinder track, Harding High athletes yesterday afternoon, on the dirt track at the fairgrounds, incidentally set up a few good marks. The occasion was the high school interclass meet.

Track events only were held yesterday afternoon. Field performers were to have their chance today at Central Junior High. Led by McAnnich and Zimmer, the Sophomores counted 24 points for a lead over the Seniors, who recorded only 23 markers. The Juniors made a miserable showing, trailing with eight counters.

The broad jump, high jump, pole vault, shot put, and discus will complete the interclass meet and a great race is expected between the Sophs and upper classes for the winning points. First place in an event counts five points, second place three points, and third position a single mark.

Zimmer Stars
The surprise of the day was Zimmer, a sophomore, who straddled the mile in five minutes and 40 seconds and a few minutes later trotted the half mile in two minutes, 22 seconds. He led his closest opponent in the mile by a distance of more than 100 yards and had little trouble in taking the half.

It is said to be Zimmer's third day on the track. If that's the case, with additional training next week, Harding High will be celebrating a victory.

The mile run at the district meet and possibly the same in the half mile event. Zimmer had plenty of power left when he trotted down the home stretch in the mile, and if pressed, would probably have run it in five minutes yesterday.

Another shining light in the array of tracksters at the fairgrounds yesterday afternoon was Hugh Shultz, all-around athlete. Though long legs flashed over the quarter mile in 55.8 seconds and gave him a four-second win over his closest opponent, Hinklin, who stepped it in 60 seconds. Garrett was third with 63. Shultz and Hinklin both are Seniors. It is probable that Shultz ran the quarter in less than 55.8 on the end of the mile relay a half hour later, since he had little or no wind holding him back on the home stretch at the time.

Relay Teams
The Senior relay team stepped off the mile in 3:53 for another first place. It was composed of Ralph Hinklin, Ed Knight, Joe Rinner, and Shultz. All showed good form, and promise of a real relay crew for the Delaware meet was given.

The leading sprinter in high school evidently is Dick McAnnich. He won the 100-yard dash yesterday in 10.8, and a short time later paced off the 200 in 22.8. He also was last-off man for the Sophomores in the mile relay.

Here are the winners and those who placed in the various events, given in the order in which they broke the tapes at the finish:

Tex Rickard and Dempsey Begin Word Battle After Week of Unusual Peace

New York, May 5.—After agreeing like a team and also for upward of a week, I understand that Tex Rickard and Jack Dempsey have arrived at a slight misapprehension today relative to the champion's return to affairs of the fist. The difficulty arose simultaneously with Rickard's announcement that he had come to terms with Pauline on the details for the Dempsey shot. Meantime setting the date for July 9.

While he was about it, he made the point clear that he would manage to hear up bravely if the Pauline program fell down altogether; that he was only two fights and that Rickard was ribbing him up for three, provided he lasted that long, if at all. In brief, he said that he would be just as satisfied if he met the Sharkey-Maloney winner and then went on to Tannay.

It is my information that he has communicated that fear to Dempsey; also the inferred suggestion that Jack takes a shorter price with the inevitable result. Dempsey, it is said, came back with an inquiry as to who started the talk about Pauline in the first place.

Dempsey has looked down the nostril at the ability of Pauline for some time and has made no secret of the fact that he doesn't think the issue is worthy of his attention at this time or any other. He let Rickard in on the secret two days ago.

The presentation was made by the secretary of the lodge, and was responded with a speech of appreciation.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the lodge was granted permission to be present at the annual convention which was held last night.
